

Air Force EFMP Respite Care Program

The USAF Exceptional Family Member Respite care is specially designed for Air Force families who have children diagnosed with moderate or severe special needs. The program allows eligible AF active duty EFMP families to receive up to 40 hours per month of free respite care per EFMP child. Respite care is also available for the siblings of eligible children.

In order for families to be eligible, active duty Airmen must be enrolled in the EFMP program and have a child up to 18 years of age identified with moderate or severe special needs living with them. For more information about EFMP Respite Care, contact Child Care Aware at 1-800-424-2246 and/ or contact EFMP-FS Specialist, located at the A&FRC at 702-652-3327

Nellis Exceptional Family Member Program

The Exceptional Family Member Program Family Support (EFMP-FS) is designed to provide support to military family members via a variety of personnel, medical, and family support functions. EFMP-Family Support is the community support function provided by the Airman and Family Readiness Center (A&FRC) that includes, but is not limited to, on-and-off base information and referral, parent trainings, support groups, relocation assistance, financial management, and school information. The Exceptional Family Member Program is standard and mandatory for all DoD active-duty service members. It is meant to identify family members with special medical/or educational needs.

The base EFMP-FS Specialist is located in the A&FRC. The phone number is (702) 652-3327.

Clark County School District

Each state's public school system and Department of Defense (DoD) schools have different implementing rules for special education, but the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) provides guidelines for accommodating special needs students who transfer from one school district to another. Parents should provide as much information as possible to the IEP team about their child's strengths and needs.

Parents need to send or hand-carry the child's special education assessments, IEPs, and progress reports to the new school to minimize interruption to services for the child. According to IDEA, the new school system may re-evaluate the child for eligibility for special education, but will provide comparable services until the evaluation is completed.

The time line for completing an initial evaluation in Nevada is 45 school days from the date of parental consent for evaluation (which should be written) through formal determination of the student's eligibility for special education. Visit <http://sssd.ccsd.net/> and select special education support services to learn CCSD policies.

Parent Training Institutes (PTI)

Nevada PEP

Nevada PEP is Nevada's parent training institute and a statewide nonprofit organization offering empowerment and encouragement to families of children with all disabilities. PEP provides a variety of training workshops on special education and disability related topics, they offer services in information and referral, individual assistance, lending library, support groups, and family support services.
